▶ Ontario Liberal leader Dalton McGuinty waves as he delivers his victory speech at his election-night headquarters in Ottawa.

McGuinty makes it three-peat

- Liberals win third term but with minority
- Hudak, Horwath easily win their ridings

DECISION ONTARIO

It's a third term and a short leash for Premier Dalton McGuinty's Liberals.

Defying pre-election polls, pundits' predictions and rookie rivals insisting it was time for a change, McGuinty led the Liberals to a rare "three-peat" win Thursday in the closest Ontario vote of the past quarter century.

But he fell short of a majority and watched Liberal cabinet ministers and backbenchers lose their seats across much of the province.

"We have in fact succeeded in our goal of electing an experienced Liberal government," McGuinty told supporters at a Chateau Laurier ballroom in Ottawa early Friday. Ironically, the power went out for several minutes, delaying his victory speech until after midnight.

He stressed that the final election results are not yet known, pending recounts in close ridings.

The Liberal tally hovered below the 54-seat threshold required for a majority in the 107-member legislature on Thursday night, putting Grits on edge.

Party insiders told the Toronto Star McGuinty would govern with a minority on an informal "case-by-case" basis with support from the New Democrats and, on occasion, the Progressive Conservatives.

"Dalton was clear — no deals — and with these numbers there is no need," a senior Liberal insider said in Ottawa late Thursday night.

The result was a hollow victory for Tory Leader Tim Hudak, 43, who until last week had led in nearly every public-opinion poll over the past two years.

"It's been a long campaign, a hard-fought campaign, and although the result is not the one that we hoped for, we do accept it," Hudak told disappointed supporters in Niagara Falls around 11 p.m., before the minority government had been called.

The result also makes NDP Leader Andrea Horwath the most influential Ontario New Democrat since former premier Bob Rae left office in 1995.

Horwath, 48, will hold the balance of power in a minority parliament.

Back to driving school for Halton cops

A rash of accidents has prompted Halton Region police to order officers to take mandatory driver training. But they're not the only force to do so — the OPP made the same decision last year.

In the first six months of this year, Halton police cars were involved in 70 accidents, 41 of them classified as preventable, with $158,780 in damage — including four write-offs. Accidents were up 23 per cent over 2009.

None of the preventable crashes occurred when cruisers were travelling through red lights with emergency lights on. The main reasons listed were more prosaic, such as hitting something while reversing, sometimes out of a mall parking spot.

Officers must now take an online course that takes about 90 minutes to complete and focuses on avoiding distractions and being more aware of potential hazards.

Sgt. Dave Cross stressed that the number of preventable crashes is down five per cent from last year.

Many of the 41 in the first half of this year were caused by going too fast for conditions, following too closely or making improper turns.

Let feds tackle shark-fin ban: Report

Growing concerns over cruelty, drop in shark numbers has sparked movement to ban delicacy

Some Toronto councillors are pushing for a ban on the consumption and sale of shark fin, but city staff say a ban is not a city issue and council should call on Ottawa for a national ban rather than try to impose one locally.

In a report going to the city's government management committee next Thursday, a senior manager in licensing and standards says there is an issue to be tackled, just not by the city.

"Although staff have identified clear concerns with the shark-fin industry, no clear municipal purpose — mainly health and safety, consumer protection, or nuisance control — exists," wrote Bruce Robertson.

He added it would be "very difficult, at best, and nearly impossible, at worst, to enforce the ban on a product that can be legally and easily purchased" outside Toronto and brought in.

The committee will instead be urged to call on Ottawa to ban the importation of shark fin, cartilage and all other derivative products to Canada, and to protect shark populations in Canadian waters.

GETTY IMAGES

▶ British entrepreneur Richard Branson and Chinese basketball star Yao Ming attend the launch of a campaign in Shanghai two weeks ago to urge Chinese diners to take shark fin off the dining table.

Shark-fin soup is traditionally served at Chinese weddings and other auspicious occasions.

Councillor Glenn De Baeremaeker, who along with colleague Kristyn Wong-Tam has been pushing for a Toronto ban, agrees council should call on Ottawa for a national ban.

But he said council should push beyond staff's "timid, fearful" recommendations, noting it has done so in the past with bans on smoking in restaurants and lawn pesticides that later went provincewide.

"The matter is one that clearly and more properly rests with more senior levels of government."
BRUCE ROBERTSON, SENIOR MANAGER IN LICENSING AND STANDARDS

"I have every confidence we have the votes on council, and sharks will be very happy at the end of this month when we ban shark-fin soup," De Baeremaeker said, adding he'll propose a ban on possession, sale and consumption that, if approved, will move to full council.

Mississauga councillors are poised to vote on a fin ban next week, despite staff suggesting municipalities don't have that power.

Diet doctor fears trial will reveal his secrets

TORSTAR NEWS SERVICE

▶ Dr. Stanley Bernstein outside Ontario Superior Court, 393 University Ave. on Thursday, the first date of his trial in which he is suing former business partner Dr. Stephen Seagrist and his spouse, Randy Jo Wilcox.

Despite some common info, book is put together by Bernstein's unique 'sweat of the brow': Lawyer

Toronto's "diet doctor," Stanley Bernstein says it could do him serious harm if the public were to learn his weight loss secrets while he sues a former colleague.

"Confidential information is at the heart of this action," one of his lawyers, Erin Hoult, told a judge Thursday, arguing his trial should be sealed to the public while such secrets are discussed.

If his treatment methods and programs are disclosed before a judge determines if they really are secret, the very purpose of his claim will be frustrated, she argued.

Bernstein, who runs about 60 clinics nationwide, is suing his former business partner, Dr. Scott Seagrist and Seagrist's wife, Randy Jo Wilcox, for $40 million, claiming they improperly took his trade secrets to use in rival clinics in southwestern Ontario.

Seagrist and Wilcox, who are countersuing for $20 million, retort that the secrets are nothing of the sort, but stem from commonly known sources.

▶ Dr. Stephen Seagrist and his wife, Randy Jo Wilcox

Hoult told Justice Michael Quigley that Bernstein is only trying to exclude the public and media from portions of the trial dealing with material in two books — an in-house manual and a guide — until a ruling is made whether they do indeed contain trade secrets.

"It is his interest in securing justice that is at stake," she said.

"The public interest in seeing justice done outweighs the open court principle."

U of T is best in class: Report

The University of Toronto retained its title as Canada's best university, according to a report from the U.K.'s Times Higher Education World University Rankings.

But the university fell two spots from last year to 19 in the publication's 2011-2012 top 400 listed schools.

The California Institute of Technology bumped Harvard University from the top spot, which it held for the past eight years. If the slap in Harvard's face wasn't enough, it also tied Stanford University, the Harvard of the west, for second.

The rankings use 13 performance indicators "designed to capture the full range of university activities, from teaching to research to knowledge transfer."

These indicators are grouped into five categories: teaching, volume and reputation of research, number of research citations, industry income and innovation and international makeup of the school.

U of T scored 81.6 out of 100, the only Canadian school to make the honour roll.

The school scored strongest in research and citations, but was held back by a poor score in industry income and innovation. But the report noted the school's prodigious library collection, saying it had North America's fourth-largest academic library.

The University of British Columbia jumped eight spots in the rankings to 22, Canada's second-best school with a 77.4 final score.

The university scored well on international makeup and number of citations. McGill was Canada's third best school with a ranking of 28.

Seven other Canadian schools made it in the top 200. Queen's University, whose alumni often consider their school the Harvard of the north, was left scratching its head with a ranking of 173, one notch below the University of Miami, the infamous college football powerhouse.

Airport protest creates backlog

Delays of several hours due to labour issue at Pearson

Travellers faced long lineups at Pearson International Airport Thursday because of a protest by security guards.

Some said it was complete chaos at the airport, as they experienced delays for several hours.

"Nobody's leaving. Nobody's coming in," said Bassem Handy, a passenger on an Air Canada flight from San Francisco. "There are tons of planes just waiting for a gate."

Handy said his plane arrived in Toronto at 3:50 p.m., but passengers waited on the airport tarmac for 45 minutes before they could leave. He said no announcement was made explaining the delays, and that he only found out about the work-to-rule campaign after calling Air Canada's concierge service.

Passengers were frustrated that neither Pearson nor Air Canada gave an explanation for the delays, Handy added, calling them "a major inconvenience."

Mitch Overholt said passengers on his Air Canada flight from Houston were stuck on the tarmac nearly two hours. The flight was also an hour late leaving Houston. He said the pilot told them of the labour dispute.

Pearson experienced backlogs across the entire airport. TORSTAR NEWS SERVICE

Delays

- The Greater Toronto Airport Authority confirmed that a work-to-rule campaign by security workers is responsible for the delays, which began Wednesday.
- "As a result of a work and labour issue with CATSA guards today, pre-board screening is very slow this evening. We do expect some delays for passengers travelling out of Toronto Pearson," a spokesperson said in a recorded message.
- The Canadian Air Transport Security Authority or CATSA is responsible for passenger screening at airports across the country.

Northern voices heard

First Nation's satellite network ensures everyone's vote gets counted
'Technical anomaly' threatened to silence community's involvement

ROB MCMAHON
TORONTO@METRONEWS.CA
METRO CANADA IN SIOUX LOOKOUT

Thanks to a satellite network managed by a First Nation organization, Ontario's most remote communities could participate in the provincial election.

Early Thursday morning, Fort Severn First Nation Band Manager George Kakekaspan learned his community couldn't phone in their polling station results.

That's because the Anik F2 satellite, which supports voice and data services to northern Ontario, experienced a 'technical anomaly' that wiped out connections in the fly-in Washaho Cree community.

"We opened up the band office this morning and tried phoning with the land lines, and nothing ... We've been using cellphones and IP phones all day," said Kakekaspan, reached through his Keewaytinook Mobile cellphone. "It's taken us a long time to get this far. We've been pushing it with KNET a long time — and it's worked out pretty good for us."

Fort Severn, along with 11 other remote Ontario First Nations, retained communications services on Thursday through the Northern Indigenous Community Satellite Network, or NICSN.

NICSN is a co-operative satellite provider operated out of Sioux Lookout and managed by KO-KNET services, the telecommunications arm of Keewaytinook Okimakanak Tribal Council.

Since August 2009, NICSN has used the Anik F3 satellite — an arrangement that enabled it to continue delivering services despite Thursday's troubles with Anik F2.

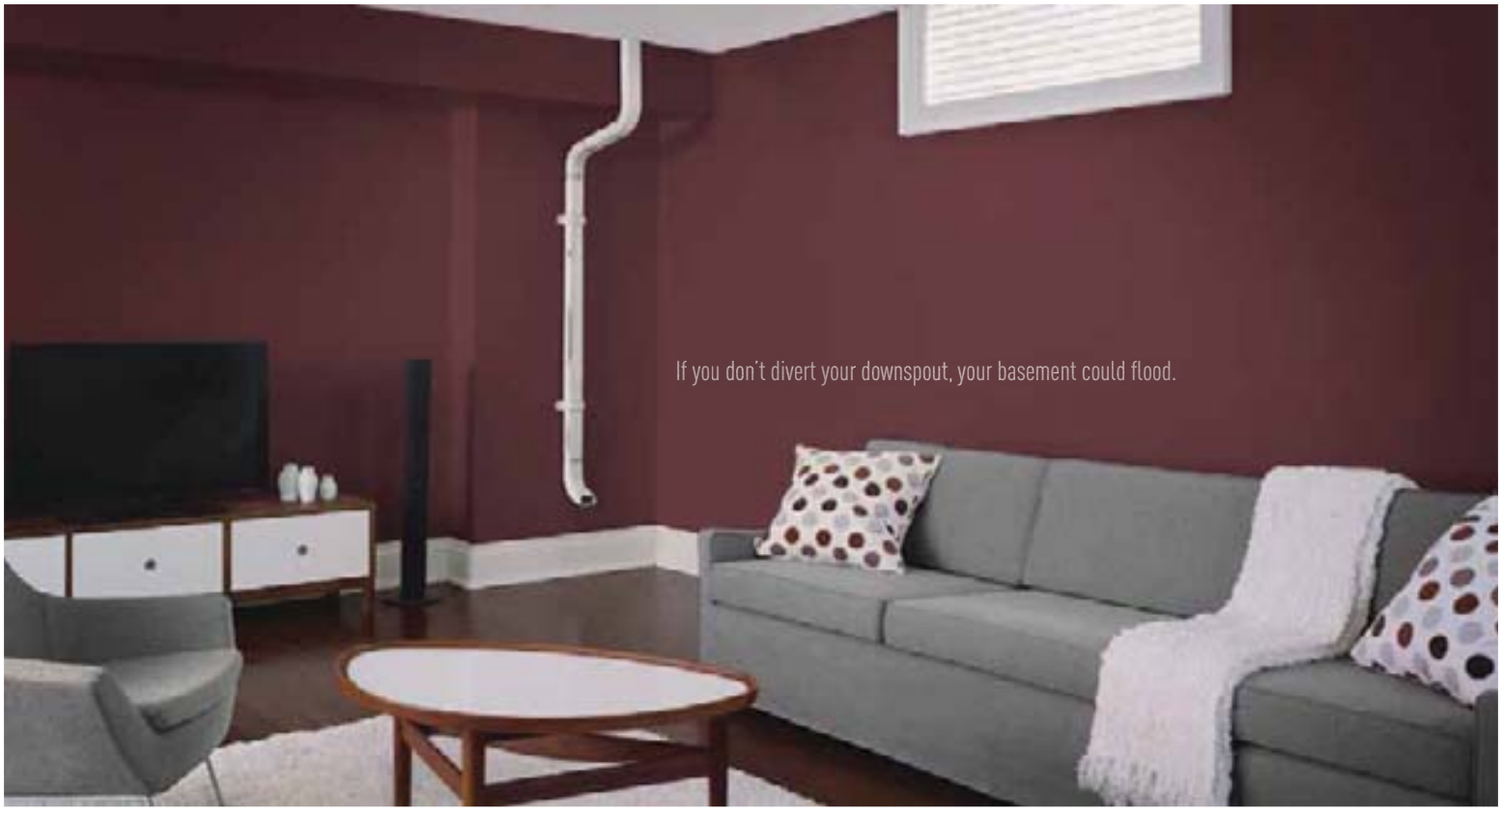
"This morning, we heard Kasabonika Lake wasn't taking phone calls, then we heard everyone's KA satellite dishes were down. All of these are on Anik F2, and it really clicked in when people said they couldn't phone up north," said Terrance Burnard from NICSN.

Thanks to NICSN, community polling stations worked with KNET through email and voice-over-IP phones to transfer election results to the south.

What is NICSN?

More on the Northern Indigenous Community Satellite Network:

- Formed in 2005.
- Partnership between First Nations tribal councils in Ontario and Manitoba, and the Inuit Kativik Regional Government in Quebec.
- Delivers satellite bandwidth to communities at a fixed rate, regardless of location.
- Supports public services, including the remote delivery of health and education.
- Elections Ontario worked with NICSN to deliver training to remote polling stations through videoconferencing.



Rainwater belongs on lawns and gardens where it can naturally filter into the ground. Not in downspouts which can overload the sewer system and cause basement flooding. Overloaded sewers can also send contaminated water into our lake and waterways. Please do the right thing and, if possible, divert your downspout onto your lawn or garden. Jobs loved, hated his own celebrity

Late Apple co-founder transcended business world to become pop-culture figure On par with Edison

Of all the tributes that have poured in after Steve Jobs' death, he might have most appreciated one small gesture from an anonymous fan: A juicy red apple, partially eaten to mimic the Apple logo, placed against the door of an Apple store in Manhattan.

The gesture was simple and elegant, but also a sign of a rare connection between the public and a visionary entrepreneur.

By the time he died on Wednesday, after years of medical problems, Jobs had appeared on some 100 magazine covers and had numerous books written about him, not to mention an off-Broadway play, an HBO movie and even some South Park episodes. He wasn't the first celebrity CEO, but he may have been the first in modern times to achieve such a lofty place in the public consciousness.

"Steve had a love-hate relationship with his own fame," said Alan Deutschman, author of The Second Coming of Steve Jobs, an unauthorized biography.

"He clearly enjoyed the celebrity and the access it gave him, but he wanted total control over his image."

And, for the most part, he got it. "No one has come close to Steve in his ability to control and manipulate the media and get what he wants," Deutschman said.

It's master inventor Thomas Edison's name that pops up most often in historical comparisons, partly because, like Jobs, he wasn't only a visionary but "he could really sell. He was very good at his external image," said Robert Sutton, a professor of management science at Stanford University.

Yale business professor Jeffrey Sonnenfeld compares Jobs — and his fame — to other "folk heroes" who have emerged in various fields at times of great change.

And in the long run, where does Jobs fit in the pantheon of celebrity CEOs?

"He's on another plane," Sutton says. "He reached a level in the public consciousness that's beyond that of anyone in modern times. I mean, my mother doesn't know the name of (former General Electric CEO) Jack Welch."

World mourns Steve Jobs

News of Apple co-founder's death on Wednesday lit up cyberspace

From the titans of high technology to teenagers armed with iPads, millions of people around the world mourned digital-gadget genius Steve Jobs as a man whose wizardry transformed their lives in big ways and small.

Google, Sony, Samsung, Microsoft — corporate giants that have all been bruised in dustups with Jobs' baby, the technology prodigy Apple — put their rivalries aside Thursday to remember the man behind the iconic products that define his generation: iPod, the iPhone, the iPad.

"Thanks for showing that what you build can change the world," Facebook founder Mark Zuckerberg wrote.

Fans for whom the Apple brand became a near-religion grasped for comparisons to history's great innovators, as well as its celebrities, to honour the man they credit with putting 1,000 songs and the Internet in their pockets.

"I was so saddened. For me it was like Michael Jackson or Princess Diana — that magnitude," Stephen Jarjoura, 43, said at the flagship Apple store in Australia's biggest city, Sydney.

Arrest in Israeli mosque burning

Attack on Monday set off protest that was dispersed by police Blaze damaged carpets, interior walls

MENEHEM KAHANA/GETTY IMAGES

▶ Israeli President Shimon Peres, left, speaks at a mosque that was set on fire in the Bedouin village of Tuba Zangaria in Israel.

Israeli police said Thursday they have arrested a suspect in a mosque burning that sparked violent protests in an Arab village earlier this week.

Police gave few details about the suspect, but his lawyer identified him as an 18-year-old seminary student with ties to one of the most hardline Jewish settlements in the West Bank.

Later in the day, Israel's chief rabbis, President Shimon Peres and Christian and Druse religious leaders visited the village to condemn the attack and express solidarity with residents.

The West Bank has experienced a jump in settler violence, including arson and graffiti attacks on mosques and vandalism of Palestinian farmland. The arson attack was a rare case of settler violence inside Israel proper.

▶ People march near City Hall on Thursday in Philadelphia. Organizers of what is being called Occupy Philadelphia say Thursday's demonstration is meant to be a stand against corporate greed.

Obama pays heed to spreading protests

U.S. president says the financial regulation bill he championed ensures tougher oversight of the industry

Concerns over Wall Street practices and economic inequality leading to rallies across the United States reverberated up to the White House on Thursday, with President Barack Obama saying the protesters are expressing the frustrations of the American public.

Thousands of protesters marched the day before in Manhattan. Protests continued Thursday in several cities, with about 500 union members, students, activists and others marching through Los Angeles. Police arrested about a dozen people who sat down in a Bank of America during that demonstration and refused to leave.

The protests have slowly grown in size and attention over more than two weeks, with Obama's acknowledgment a sign they might be forming into a political movement. Obama said he understood the public's concerns and said Americans see Wall Street as an example of the financial industry not always following the rules.

"It expresses the frustrations that the American people feel that we had the biggest financial crisis since the Great Depression ... ," the president said. "And yet you're still seeing some of the same folks who acted irresponsibly trying to fight efforts to crack down on abusive practices that got us into this problem in the first place."

The protesters have varied causes and no apparent demands, but have spoken largely about unemployment and economic inequality. "We're in it together, and we're in it for the long haul," said George Aldro, 62, a member of the United Auto Workers.

NOBEL LITERATURE PRIZE

Media falls for hoax

An Internet hoax that falsely trumpeted a Serb as this year's Nobel Literature Prize winner was slick, and down fell the victims: State-run TV, news agencies, radio and several newspapers.

Moments before the Swedish Academy announced the real winner — Swedish poet Tomas Transtromer — on Thursday, unknown hackers said on what looked like an official Nobel Prize website that it was Serbian writer Dobrica Cosic. The site included a photo of the 90-year-old Cosic, quotations from his book, and a description heralding him as "the last dissident of the 20th century, witness of a declining era, as well as the prophet of an emerging one."

An email sent to the Associated Press and other media outlets appeared to originate from the Serbian Academy of Arts and Sciences. It denies involvement.

Aztec relic unearthed

Archaeologists say they've found a round stone Aztec ceremonial platform studded with carvings of serpents' heads at Mexico City's Templo Mayor ruin site.

Archaeologist Carlos Javier Gonzalez says the stone platform measuring 15 metres in diameter was probably built around 1469. He says it could be the spot where Aztec emperors were cremated and buried.

New clashes in Chile

Police move in on students 132 arrested, 30 injured

Chilean police used water cannons and tear gas to break up a student march for free public education on Thursday, hours after protesters' talks with the government collapsed.

A huge deployment of riot police surrounded students in the Plaza Italia, Santiago's traditional gathering place, where student leader Camila Vallejo tried to lead the march while holding a sign saying United and Stronger, only to be pummelled by water cannons and forced to retreat by tear gas.

Protesters hurled rocks at police and set blockades ablaze in the streets as officers on horseback chased students onto nearby campuses. Vallejo said officers shot tear gas into their student government offices in "a direct attack against our organization."

The march was the 37th weekly protest since the movement against Chile's largely privatized education system began in April, demanding more spending and higher taxes on the wealthy so that quality public education can be free for all. THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Weekend at Shotgun Willie's

Men allegedly hit the town on dead buddy's dime, leaving his body in car

A man accused of driving around Denver with a dead friend in the back of a car and running up a bar tab on the friend's account says he thought the man was drunk, not deceased.

Robert Young, 43, faces charges including abusing a corpse. He spoke before a court hearing Thursday in Denver.

Investigators allege Young and Mark Rubinson, 25, drove around with the body of their 43-year-old friend Jeffrey Jarrett in their car in August.

"In my mind, I wanted to believe he was passed out. I didn't want to call 911," Young said. "I didn't want to believe he was dead."

According to police reports, the night on the town started when Young went to Jarrett's home and found him unresponsive.

Rather than call the authorities, police say, Young went to find Rubinson.

The duo returned to Jarrett's home and put him into Rubinson's SUV and headed to a bar where they spent more than an hour drinking, leaving Jarrett's body in the vehicle, according to police records.

Amish cut more than ties

A group of religious castoffs has been attacking fellow Amish in Ohio, cutting off their hair and beards in an apparent feud over spiritual differences in the deeply traditional community, a sheriff said Thursday.

Families disavowed by mainstream Amish have cut the beards off men and the hair off a half-dozen or more men and women, Jefferson County Sheriff Fred Abdalla said.

Feds cap caffeine in energy drinks

- Change brings Canadian labelling in line with United States, Europe
- Government anticipates transition will take between 18 and 24 months

The federal government will impose limits on the amount of caffeine that energy drinks may legally contain, Health Minister Leona Aglukkaq said Thursday, but won't restrict where they may be sold.

Ottawa also plans to require manufacturers to provide consumers with more information about high-caffeine beverages, Aglukkaq said.

"I believe today's changes will be especially helpful to the parents of teenagers who regularly consume energy drinks."
LEONA AGLUKKAQ, HEALTH MINISTER

Her announcement stopped short of recommendations by the Expert Panel on Caffeinated Drinks convened by Health Canada. It had called for energy drinks to be sold over the counter in pharmacies, like painkillers and other medications.

Until now, energy drinks — like Red Bull, Monster Energy and Rock Star — were not required to display a nutritional-facts table.

The change means that most energy drinks will be classified as a food, which means nutritional facts must be displayed on every can.

They had previously been classified as natural health products.

Rich are getting poorer: Magazine

Wealthiest down billions this year But all top five richest Canadians maintain their 2010 rankings

For once it wasn't a case of the rich getting richer.

According to the latest edition of Canadian Business magazine, many of Canada's wealthiest people have actually seen their fortunes shrink in the past year. But none of the leading names on the Top 100 list is exactly claiming poverty either, including the perennial top finisher, Toronto's Thomson family whose wealth shrank an estimated 8.7 per cent from 2010.

Canadian Business estimates the Thomson family fortune stands at $21.34 billion, down more than $2 billion from last year.

Also a little worse off this year is No. 2 on the list, supermarket magnate Galen Weston with an estimated worth of $8 billion, down 5.8 per cent, and the Rogers family of cable TV and cellphone fame. It came in No. 4 with a fortune that was down 1.3 per cent at $5.94 billion.

Doing a little better year-over year was the Irving family of Saint John, N.B., up 4.5 per cent at $7.8 billion and No. 3 on the list, and Vancouver's Jim Pattison, No. 5 at $5.73 billion, up 3.7 per cent.

AGAINST MY BETTER JUDGMENT

THE METRO LIST

MIKE BENHAIM
METRO

1 Ice dreams: The beginning of the NHL season is a wonderful optimistic time. Just yesterday someone in Toronto said "The Leafs are going all the way!" The fact that he was drunk at 11 a.m. and seemingly hadn't showered since last season did not diminish his enthusiasm. Here's to bringing the cup back to Canada!

2 Yeah, baby!: Congratulations to Mike Myers and wife Kelly Tisdale on the birth of their baby boy last week. They named him Spike Myers. Once again, comedians never know where to draw the line. Good luck in preschool, Spike.

3 What the Hell: Avril Lavigne played to a sparse crowd at Rogers Arena in Vancouver this week, but no biggie for such a poised professional. Now an introspective divorcee with her own line of clothing and fragrance, she delighted parents whose kids would bear witness to Avril's patriotic cheers. "It's pretty badass to be back in Canada. We're going to need you to go f–ing crazy!" Sniff, our little girl's all growed up.

4 Congratu...wha?: The Nobel Foundation broke protocol by granting McGill grad Ralph Steinman the coveted prize for research that produced treatments for cancer and HIV, among others. The statute prohibits granting the award posthumously, but it wasn't until three hours after the award was announced that Nobel officials found out Steinman had succumbed to cancer two days earlier. Is this guy lucky or what?

5 Gun-shy: A report written by Caillin Langmann at McMaster University suggests that gun-control legislation is not responsible for Canada's reduction in firearm homicides. Langmann, who opposes strict gun laws, credits social programs and demographic shifts for the change. I think he's saying that people should have firearms but should be open to other forms of violence before resorting to them.

6 Feist-y: Canadian sweetheart Feist has emerged from a two-year hiatus with an impressive album, Metals. She took a rest after going full-speed for most of the 2000s, then compiled her new CD, spent weeks in Paris mixing it, then a while in London for mastering, and is already earning critical acclaim and money. Have I made the wrong career choice? I blame my parents.

7 Ordinary people: The 18-year-old, identity-protected young murderer from Medicine Hat is now rehabilitated. For those who don't know: At 12-years-old, she helped her 23-year-old boyfriend kill her parents and eight-year-old brother because they opposed the relationship (so strict). Now, after six years at a young-offenders centre, she is deemed "low-risk" for future violence. Apparently, intensive therapy has brought her to the realization that offing the family may have been a tad harsh. Where is Jerry Springer when you need him?

8 Oh, Canada: It seems like only yesterday I was heading to the polls to cast my vote for what I call "the party of least reluctance." But I am not ashamed to admit that I will proudly support anyone that throws me the slightest bone, even while ignoring my needs and misrepresenting my wishes. And I am not the only one who's married?

RE: Paul Sullivan's column published Oct. 5, Nobody's right if everybody's wrong

Sublimely pointless article written by an out-of-touch, capitalist sycophant.

This writer has obviously given up on life, truth, justice and good journalism. There are young people out there who will never get the chances he takes for granted based on his generation's bad choices. The article was pointless, meandering, by an over-the-hill curmudgeon. Get him to his porch and rocking chair and let someone who still lives life write in this wasted space.

Does God hate non-iPhone tweeting?

Members of fundamentalist Westboro Baptist Church announced plans to picket Steve Jobs' funeral — from an iPhone.

Shortly after news of the Apple founder's death Wednesday night, Margie Phelps, daughter of the church's founder, used one of Apple's iconic devices to tweet the family-run church's intention to protest at Jobs' funeral.

"Westboro will picket his funeral. He had a huge platform; gave God no glory & taught sin," she tweeted.

The message was retweeted by other iPhone-wielding Phelps family members who make up the small but controversial church.

On Thursday, Phelps responded to criticism over her use of an Apple product to send out the messages.

"Rebels mad cuz I used iPhone to tell you Steve Jobs is in hell. God created iPhone for that purpose!" she wrote.

The Kansas-based church is infamous for mounting attention-getting anti-gay protests outside military funerals.

Synopsis

- Ides of March focuses on Stephen Myers (Ryan Gosling), an idealistic campaign manager who'd do anything to win, as long as he truly believes in the candidate. He is devoted to Governor Mike Morris (Clooney), a candidate in the Democratic primary. The first hour is spent getting into the campaign, learning the machinations of a big league primary run. Clooney sets up the themes of the piece before taking a right turn (story-wise) into different territory.

Packing a political punch

Ides of March is a smart, sophisticated look at power and politics, with great acting Viewers will be left wondering how many Oscar nominations it will get

Richard: Mark, I'm not going to give away the twist, but it is really then that the movie picks up steam. The first hour is good stuff, with its great acting from Paul Giamatti and Phillip Seymour Hoffman and a fascinating, if occasionally dry, look at life in the political fast lane. Then comes the blackmail, the meetings in darkened stairwells and double-crossing journalists and it becomes something darker and more interesting.

Mark: Richard, the movie had me from the opening scenes. Well-acted, great script; a smart and sophisticated film about power and politics. I knew there had to be a twist, but I liked it even before the twist. Personally, I didn't find it dry at all, but I follow political campaigns the way that most people follow sports. But you're right; once it becomes a cat and mouse game it really gets exciting.

RC: To me it feels like a sexed-up All the President's Men, a movie filled with good-looking movie stars that still packs a serious punch. Gosling impresses as he makes his way from idealism to stark realism, and Clooney looks like he was born to sit in an oval office. But it is the supporting cast who really shine. What did you think of Giamatti and Hoffman?

MB: Brilliant, both of them! But don't leave out Marisa Tomei and Evan Rachel Wood in smaller but crucial roles. Another thing about the movie that impressed me was that although the film was based on a play, it didn't feel "stagey" as a lot of these adaptations do. Clooney really opened it up and at no time did I think I was watching what had once been a play. And I'll put you on the spot — how many Oscar nominations do you think the movie will get?

RC: We're looking at a few nominations overall and maybe a win for either Giamatti or Hoffman. They both reek of the backroom, the kind of guys who invisibly pull the strings. I also thought Clooney did some good work here. If his character leans any further left he'll topple over, but it's not a love letter to the left. If anything the movie levels the playing field between the Democrats and Republicans, suggesting they're cut from the same cloth.

MB: The movie raises Clintonian ethics issues — can a politician be deeply flawed in his private life and yet be the most skilled and humane legislator in the field? And then it goes further to suggest that moral corruption is inevitable. How could I not love this flick?

Remaking a teenage classic

Director Craig Brewer treads carefully in Footloose

RICHARD CROUSE
SCENE@METRONEWS.CA

The names Ren and Ariel are touchstones for a generation. In the teen classic Footloose, big city boy Ren (Kevin Bacon) romanced Ariel (Lori Singer) and brought the boogie back to the small town of Bomont, Georgia.

Despite bad reviews, the story of teen rebellion and two-stepping struck a chord with audiences who made it one of the biggest hits of 1984.

Director Craig Brewer knew his new big-screen version had to tread carefully, reinventing the characters without losing what made them popular in the first place.

"I think all of my cast members were able to occupy the characters without there being any sort of mimicry or impersonation of the original," he says.

The project had been in development for some time, with big names like Zac Efron attached, but Brewer decided to go a different way.

"If you went in a time machine and sat with me in 1984 when I was 13 and went and saw Footloose,

On-screen horror — in a parka

NED EHRBAR
SCENE@METRONEWS.CA
METRO WORLD NEWS IN HOLLYWOOD

With titles like Final Destination 3, the Ring Two and Black Christmas in her filmography, actress Mary Elizabeth Winstead is no stranger to on-screen horror. So a prequel to the Thing was right up her alley. Plus, the Antarctic setting didn't allow for much in the way of revealing costumes, which is something Winstead says she appreciated, considering how female characters tend to be portrayed in the horror and science fiction worlds.

She shared her rather frank opinions on the topic with Metro, as well as her unique connection to the star of the original 1982 the Thing.

So, you've tangled with Kurt Russell in Sky High, sang with him in Death Proof and now you're in the prequel to one of his films.

I know! I'm always following Kurt Russell, for some reason.

Has he seen this yet?

I have no idea. I mean, he's so not a show business type guy that I wouldn't be surprised if he didn't know that this exists. He probably in passing has heard about it, but I doubt he's worrying about it too much.

How did you feel about this being a prequel?

Knowing that it was from Strike Entertainment, it was a clue that these were the kind of people — from their past work like Dawn of the Dead — they have a grasp on how to take material and make something new out of it that's still respectful and interesting and not just a retread that's more modern and more right before the screening happened if you would have asked me, 'What do you think of Kevin Bacon?' I would have said, 'Who?' That movie made that guy. He was already a talented actor, he just needed a movie to break him into the pop scene.

"You want to see someone new come into town, you want to have that same bit of mystery surround them so I resisted having Ren McCormack being played by a 'movie star' because then you get all the baggage of their other movies tied into this one," he says.

Kenny Wormald, a choreographer and dancer, won the role after a recommendation from Justin Timberlake, who spotted his innate talent when Kenny was a backup dancer for the singer.

For Ariel, Brewer cast the more established Julianne Hough, best known as a Dancing with the Stars champion.

After her initial audition Brewer was relieved.

"I knew I had Ariel. I was excited because I had just seen the birth of a new actress who was really good and really brave," she said.

schlocky than the first one that came around.

I love them. I have a particular fondness for strong women on screen who are also realistic. It's really fun to see women kicking ass and being super-powerful, but at the same time I feel like there's this niche that we don't see of women who are just realistically strong and smart and take care of themselves but aren't beating up guys twice their size and knocking them out — things that just wouldn't happen in the real world.

It's interesting that filmmakers seem to think female characters have to be at one end of the spectrum.

Right. It's so shocking to me that there aren't more realistic female characters out there, because we make up half the population. Why is everything so dominated by what guys want to see? Every female character in a movie is over-sexualized or she's played as shrill and neurotic or something that's a very male perspective on different types of women that are out there. I feel like a lot of actresses, when they play a super-sexual character, they're like, "No, this is empowering and women owning our sexuality" and stuff. I get that, but I don't feel like that's what we're really seeing.

A few facts

- Vital stats: Raised in Salt Lake City, Winstead, 26, was trained as a singer and ballet dancer before turning to acting, garnering attention for her role in superhero spoof Sky High.
- Cult status: Winstead is beloved by geeks the world over for playing hair dye-loving object of affection Ramona Flowers in 2010's Scott Pilgrim vs. the World.

Real Steel
Genre: Fantasy
Director: Shawn Levy
Stars: Hugh Jackman

For a family-friendly fantasy flick — even one about robots pummeling each other — Real Steel opens with some pretty questionable action. We meet down-on-his-luck Charlie (Hugh Jackman) pitting his robot boxer, Ambush, against a live bull at a state fair.

The film is set in a not-too-distant future when audiences' thirst for violence made human boxing obsolete in favour of the more brutal robot variety, but there's just something about watching an animal getting punched in the face that doesn't quite sit right. It doesn't help that the rest of the film's tone is actually safely in the family-friendly zone.

Robot-on-bovine violence aside, Real Steel works, minus a few bugs. The boxing itself is a marvel, with the clashing metal titans feeling incredibly real. As for the humans, Jackman plays Charlie with just enough charm that we root for him, despite him being a pretty lackluster businessman, father and human being.

About that father bit: Charlie takes on his estranged 11-year-old son (Dakota Goyo) for a summer on the road. Unfortunately, the film relies a bit too heavily on Goyo, possibly to distract from Jackman's character's less-than-heroic actions. And the less said about the boy's dancing, the better. ● NED EHRBAR

The Interrupters
Genre: Documentary
Director: Steve James
●●●½

Though it lacks the epic sweep of Hoop Dreams, Steve James' new documentary consolidates his commitment to socially responsible filmmaking. It's a portrait of a Chicago community-activist group dedicated to "interrupting" gang violence — a noble, perilous endeavor that makes for some hair-raising sequences. By focusing on both sides of the situation, James keeps the film from toppling over into simple, despairing civil critique. ● ADAM NAYMAN

French Immersion
Genre: Comedy
Director: Kevin Tierney
Stars: Gavin Crawford, Fred Ewanuick
●●

The film explores a clash of cultures in a small Quebec village that thrives on its language school to keep the community afloat. If that sounds like a pitch for a new CBC-funded sitcom, it's not far off. In fact, it may have worked as such. But as a film, this attempt to capitalize on the language divide using a bundle of Canadian celebs is half-baked. ● STEVE GOW

Trespass
Genre: Thriller
Director: Joel Schumacher
Stars: Nicolas Cage, Nicole Kidman
●½
Trespass is supposed to be a taut, intense hostage thriller in which a diamond broker (Nicolas Cage) and his family are held captive in their own home for jewels. Instead, this stumbling, clichéd dud is about as subtle, sensible and mysterious as a tone-deaf home-alarm salesman. With Cage detonating one of his most laughably explosive performances however, some cynics may cherish this loser as a lark.

Circumstance
Genre: Drama
Director: Maryam Keshavarz
Stars: Nikohl Boosheri, Sarah Kazemy
●●½
An impassioned but underwhelming drama, Circumstance concerns a pair of Tehranian teenagers in love. The twist — and the problem, given the nature of the theocratic state in which they live — is that they're both girls. As a portrait of tentative, burgeoning attraction, the film has its moments, but a late turn into thriller territory strains narrative credibility and first-time filmmaker Maryam Keshavarz's abilities to their breaking point. ● ADAM NAYMAN

1911
Genre: Historical drama
Directors: Jackie Chan, Zhang Li
Stars: Jackie Chan, Winston Chao, Joan Chen
●●½
A historical drama about the Xinhai Revolution that brought down China's Qing Dynasty, 1911 positions Sun Yat-Sen (Chao) and Huang Xing (Chan), the revolution's leaders. But its perspective is split between military general Yuan Shikai and the Empress as well as the revolutionaries, creating a slow and confusing film. The battle scenes are well shot, but 1911 brings nothing new to the genre and will be of little interest to anyone uninterested in Chinese history. ● IAN GORMELY

Margaret
Genre: Drama
Director: Kenneth Lonergan
Stars: Anna Paquin, Matt Damon, Mark Rufflalo
●●●
Six years in the works, Kenneth Lonergan's coming-of-age drama Margaret still has the look and feel of a work in progress. What it does have going for it is a pre-True Blood Anna Paquin, who burns up the screen with a bravura performance in a complex and discomfiting role. She plays Lisa Cohen, a bright private-school student, who descends into a spiral of guilt, despair and retribution after she inadvertently contributes to the death of a female pedestrian, having flirtatiously distracted a bus driver (Mark Ruffalo) and lied to police about their mutual complicity. Pharrell: Man of all trades

PAT HEALY
SCENE@METRONEWS.CA
METRO WORLD NEWS IN BOSTON

Pharrell Williams is aware of the consequences of his busy schedule.

"There's no social life," says the songwriter/producer/entrepreneur. "But that's OK."

Williams' latest title is the creative director of Karmaloop TV, which is currently an online destination at karmalooptv.com but is vying to be a full-fledged cable channel. The site has begun its first big push with an initiative dubbed Reclaim Your TV, which hopes to draw in the first generation that never knew life without Internet.

"We're 'live and let live' type of people," says Williams of the Reclaim slogan. "We just want to bring people the content that we miss and the things that we'd want to see."

When do you think TV got to a point where it needed to be reclaimed?
Well, it's not really the networks' fault, or the cable providers' fault. It's the fact that the Internet has just made everything so abundant. ... There's so many different choices out there, and I could see how it could be confusing at times, and it's hard to remain focused. But that's what we're intent on doing.

We intend to do a couple of things right, not 20 million things.

You have so many different ventures you're involved in, including clothing and liquor. How do you define the spark that has to be there for you to invest your time and money?
I'm always up for the challenge, and it's always got to make sense. ... Being a partner in a network is a big move; but at the same time, contributing to all things creative there is an honour.

Let's talk about music. Are you still finding time to get into the studio?
Yeah, everything from on the pop side from like Jay Sean all the way to Jay-Z.

How about J.T.? I've heard rumours that you've even been working with Justin Timberlake again.
I heard those rumors too.

Are they true?
I'm not one to talk, but we're all excited.

High Blood Pressure?

High blood pressure is called the silent killer. If your BP is higher than normal, try to get it down to about 120/80. For many people it is easy to control. If it does not work for you we refund your money. On our website you will find over 50 testimonials with full names and towns from all over USA and Canada. Most of them have listed phone numbers and are happy to talk about the relief they had. No money was paid for testimonials.

Dr. C. Hammoud M.H., Ph.D. recommends this effective fish peptide blood pressure natural product. So does Dr. Julian Whitaker M.D. ■ I was on 3 blood pressure drugs that did not work well. After starting Bell #26 my readings are generally well below 120/80. Dona A. Anderson, 76, Sooke, BC ■ My blood pressure was 157/90 and I had side effects from prescription drugs. I bought a monitor. After 6 months on Bell #26 I was down to 120/80. Toni L. McCuistion, 52, Elizabethtown, PA ■ At work my driver's medical test was too high at 170/100. After taking Bell #26 for a few days I went down to 128/84 which allowed me to pass my work medical. Kris Geier, 48, Windsor, ON. All TRUE experiences from real people.

Great Sex

Eroxil™ helps most men to perform like in their 20's. Evidence of a few hundred testimonials on our web site with full names and towns. All 100% true:

■ Eroxil is the best of all the supplements for men I've tried. Boosts my sex drive and I'm able to function anytime. Angus Gutke, 45, Calgary, AB ■ Regained virility in 3 days. My libido was restored for good sex. I've given it also to friends with the same results. One of them is a diabetic and overweight. Dr. Louis Rolland, 72, St. Hyacinthe, QC ■ Having orgasms off the Richter scale. It's like I'm a teenager again. The world owes you big time. Lawrie Roberts, 47, Toronto, ON ■ Wonderful to feel like a man again. It's wonderful to feel close to my wife again. God bless you! Charles E. Palen, 77, Burnaby, BC. TRUE EVIDENCE! that we are helping people. ■ Women ask for Erosyn #7 to regain your libido, interest in love making and ability to climax like in your honeymoon. It's satisfaction guaranteed.

Prevent COLDS & FLUS

The only cold medicine with a money-back guarantee. Four medical doctors that wrote in their book SHARK LIVER OIL that you can prevent colds and flus. Dr. Hubert wrote since his own high-school age children took shark liver oil they have no more colds. Dr. Haimes's grandchildren have been taking shark liver oil for 6 months and he writes they have no more infection of any kind. Read on the Bell website: "I had 3-4 flus every winter. None last 5 years." "Amazing! All of us have no more colds." "No more asthma, no puffer, no cold, no flus, changed my life". In North America this is a by-product from the restaurant industry. No sharks are caught for their liver or their cartilage. Proof that it really works!

THE JOYS OF PINK FLOYD

SOUND CHECK

ALAN CROSS
SCENE
@METRONEWS.CA

I fear for the future of high fidelity. With every passing month, we seem to be satisfied with sound that is merely good enough. Blame it on a decade of listening to squished MP3s through cheap ear buds.

In the Olden Days, my friends and I would descend upon stereo stores, pretending to be in the market for some new speakers. "Those JBLs look good. Could we hear them, my good man? And then let's A-B them with those Cerwin-Vegas. No, no — the ones with the 15-inch woofers."

The salesperson would dutifully find the LP we suggested and place it on the turntable.

For the next 20 minutes, we'd be pummelled by sound, glorious sound. The sparkling highs. The chest-crushing bass. The sweet midrange. Once the side of the record ran out, we'd promise to think about it and leave the poor salesman commissionless.

Again.

One of the albums we'd always ask for was Pink Floyd's Dark Side of the Moon because it was one of the best-produced and most carefully recorded albums of the era.

There was an emotional and physical thrill of hearing it through speakers that could handle the thump of the heartbeat that leads into Breath, the deep bass stabs of Time and the definition of Clare Torry's voice on The Great Gig in the Sky.

The music caused dopamine to flood our brains, which is literally the same neurochemical response a heroin addict has when he gets a fix.

Today, though, MP3s and cheap ear buds have taken much of the fidelity out of music.

Even modern CDs sound worse than CDs that were released in the 1980s thanks to overuse of compression. We've forgotten how good recorded music can sound. Worse yet, many people have never experienced it.

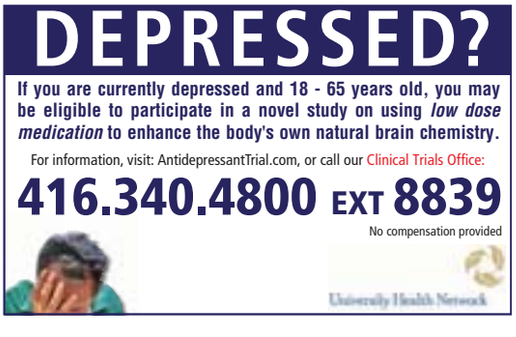
That's why I urge everyone to go out and buy the new Pink Floyd remasters along with a very good set of headphones. Clear the credit card. I don't care how.

Dark Side is the ultimate album for headphone music. Turn down the lights and turn up the music. Marvel at the subtleties of the arrangements, the texture of the production and brilliance of the musicianship.

Notice how you react physically and emotionally. This is how good music can sound.

This is what excited people about music once. Surrender to it.

You may never use ear buds again.



Ashton moves out

Friends deny it's because of his cheating

▶ Ashton Kutcher and Demi Moore

Ashton Kutcher has reportedly moved out of the home he shares with Demi Moore, according to Life & Style, though a source close to Kutcher says it has less to do with his current cheating scandal and more with trying to help his wife confront her own issues. "Demi had been sober for a long time — decades — but recently it's gotten bad," the source says. "He may have fooled around with this girl, but his wife is his priority. Ashton's trying to deal with Demi's problems."

Barrymore tying knot soon?

Drew Barrymore "is yearning to get married and have kids," a source tells Us Weekly. So it's a good thing that her boyfriend, Will Kopelman, has been considering proposing, possibly popping the question "around the one-year mark of their dating" this winter, the source says.

"He's madly in love and knows she's the one, but he just needs a bit more time." That takes care of marriage, but when it comes to babies, Barrymore may not be so patient: "I could see her getting pregnant before they get married," the source adds.

Depp apologizes for comment

Johnny Depp's comparison of having his photo taken to being raped didn't sit well with the Rape, Abuse and Incest National Network, according to Hollyscoop.

Depp had made the comment during an interview with Vanity Fair, and after the advocacy group made their concerns known, the actor was quick to apologize:

"I am truly sorry for offending anyone in any way. I never meant to. It was a poor choice of words on my part in an effort to explain a feeling," Depp said in a statement.

"I understand there is no comparison and I am very regretful. In an effort to correct my lack of judgment, please accept my heartfelt apology."

Mel C: Spice life wasn't so easy

Melanie Chisholm — or Mel C, as she was known in the Spice Girls — admits that the glare of media attention during the girl group's heyday caused her to become depressed and bulimic. "I was young and impressionable, and I found it hard to read about myself," she tells the Daily Mail. "The tabloids were cruel about my appearance."

Modern Thanksgiving

For a new twist on your holiday feast, replace tired sausage stuffing with Pear & Chestnut Stuffing Swap Pumpkin Pie for Pumpkin Mousse

TONY SAXON/ THE CANADIAN PRESS

THE CANADIAN PRESS

The stuffing will serve 12 to 16 people, while the mousse makes eight to 12 servings.

Pear and Chestnut Stuffing Preparation:

1 In skillet, melt butter over med-high and cook pears, onion, garlic, carrots, celery, sage and parsley 25 mins. or until softened. Add chestnuts and stir to combine. Add bread and salt and toss to combine. Scrape mix into baking dish, cover and bake in a 160 C (325 F) oven for 45 mins. Remove foil and bake for about 15 mins. longer or until crisp on top and golden. EMILY RICHARDS/ THE CANADIAN PRESS

Pumpkin Mousse Preparation:

1 Preheat oven to 160 C (325 F). Then in work bowl of food processor, combine graham crackers, sugar and butter and blend until mix is consistency of wet sand. Press crust into bottom of a non-stick 23-cm (9-inch) springform pan. Bake 10 mins. or until golden. Set aside.

2 Sprinkle gelatin in 125 ml (1/2 cup) of water, stir and let sit 5 mins. Boil remaining water, add to gelatin and stir until dissolved. In a separate bowl, whip whipping cream until stiff peaks form; set aside.

3 In large bowl, combine pumpkin pie filling, walnuts, mascarpone, honey, cinnamon and nutmeg, stir well. Add gelatin. Fold in whipped cream until combined and pour mousse into springform pan. Gently shake cake pan to release air bubbles and smooth out surface.

Turkey safety

The safest way to be sure that your turkey is done is to check it with a meat thermometer.

Temperatures should reach minimums of 180°F (82°C) deep in the thigh and 165°F (74°C) in the center of the stuffing. NEWS CANADA/ BUTTERBALL

If you're into wine, you have to love Thanksgiving. There's no gifts, no egg hunts and no dressing up. Thanksgiving is about food, family and a good bottle of vino.

Though roast turkey is the star, it isn't your main concern when it comes to a liquid marriage with your festive feast. Side dishes influence the table more.

As grapes go, pinot noir is a classic match on the red side (think California) with chardonnay (one that's not too oaky from France or Canada) topping my list of whites.

If you want to think outside the bottle, a spicy white grape like gewürztraminer is a great alternative.

In red, France's Beaujolais region is famous for its gamay-based wines with a rich, berry-fruited version like the strikingly packaged Georges Duboeuf 2010 Brouilly ($16.95 - $22.49) meaty enough to meet the turkey head on and soothing enough to make nice with all the fixings. TAKE CONTROL OF YOUR MENTAL HEALTH

IN MANY WAYS, PRESERVING MENTAL HEALTH IS MUCH LIKE MAINTAINING A HEALTHY BODY

Strategies like going to the gym and eating properly help keep you mentally as well as physically fit.

And just like it's up to you to keep your heart and bones healthy, you also have to take control of your own mental health. "You own it; it's your mind, and you need to give it as much attention as you give to your physical body,' says Connie Krahenbil, Executive Director, Canadian Mental Health Association Manitoba, Winnipeg.

Managing stress is a big part of maintaining mental health, and each person has to discover the stress management approach that works best for him or her, says Krahenbil.

"Maybe your thing is going to the spa once a month, or maybe your thing is walking every day." She refers to the parable of the man who mentally hangs his troubles on a "worry tree" outside his house every day so they won't interfere with his family life.

The key is to find the right balance, says Krahenbil. Her own strategy is to make a conscious effort to turn off her Blackberry every evening, to meditate, to be outside in the fresh air, to find time to spend on herself, and to exercise as much as she can. "It doesn't have to be going to the gym; it could be something like gardening."

Getting enough sleep, too, is another "precious" ingredient to mental health, says Krahenbil, who takes steps to avoid sleep "getting behind me" because she knows what that can do to her overall health.

Just as with physical health, it's important to be committed to mental fitness and to incorporate these steps into your everyday life.

Recognizing when you need to "reach out" and talk to someone you trust is also important. Everyone has felt sad or blue at one time or another, but too often, you don't want to bother anyone so you withdraw, maybe cry alone in your room. But when you do talk to a friend, "you always feel 100 times better," says Krahenbil.

Sometimes these strategies aren't enough and you may need to seek out an expert. But this should be no different than someone who has diabetes, who has to see his doctor regularly and take insulin or other medications to treat the disease.

It's important to acknowledge that you have an illness and to accept it. "We all have our crosses to bear," says Krahenbil.

And it's important not to rely solely on medication such as antidepressants to make you well. "The work is up to you," says Krahenbil. "Taking those pills is just half of it, just like insulin is just half of it for a person with diabetes."

DID YOU KNOW?

JACK HOLLINGSWORTH/DIGITAL VISION/THINKSTOCK

- World Mental Health Day takes place on Monday. This year's theme is "investing in mental health."
- According to Health Canada, one in five Canadians will experience a mental illness in their lifetime. The remaining four will have a friend, family member or colleague who will.

MENTAL HEALTH A BASIC HUMAN RIGHT

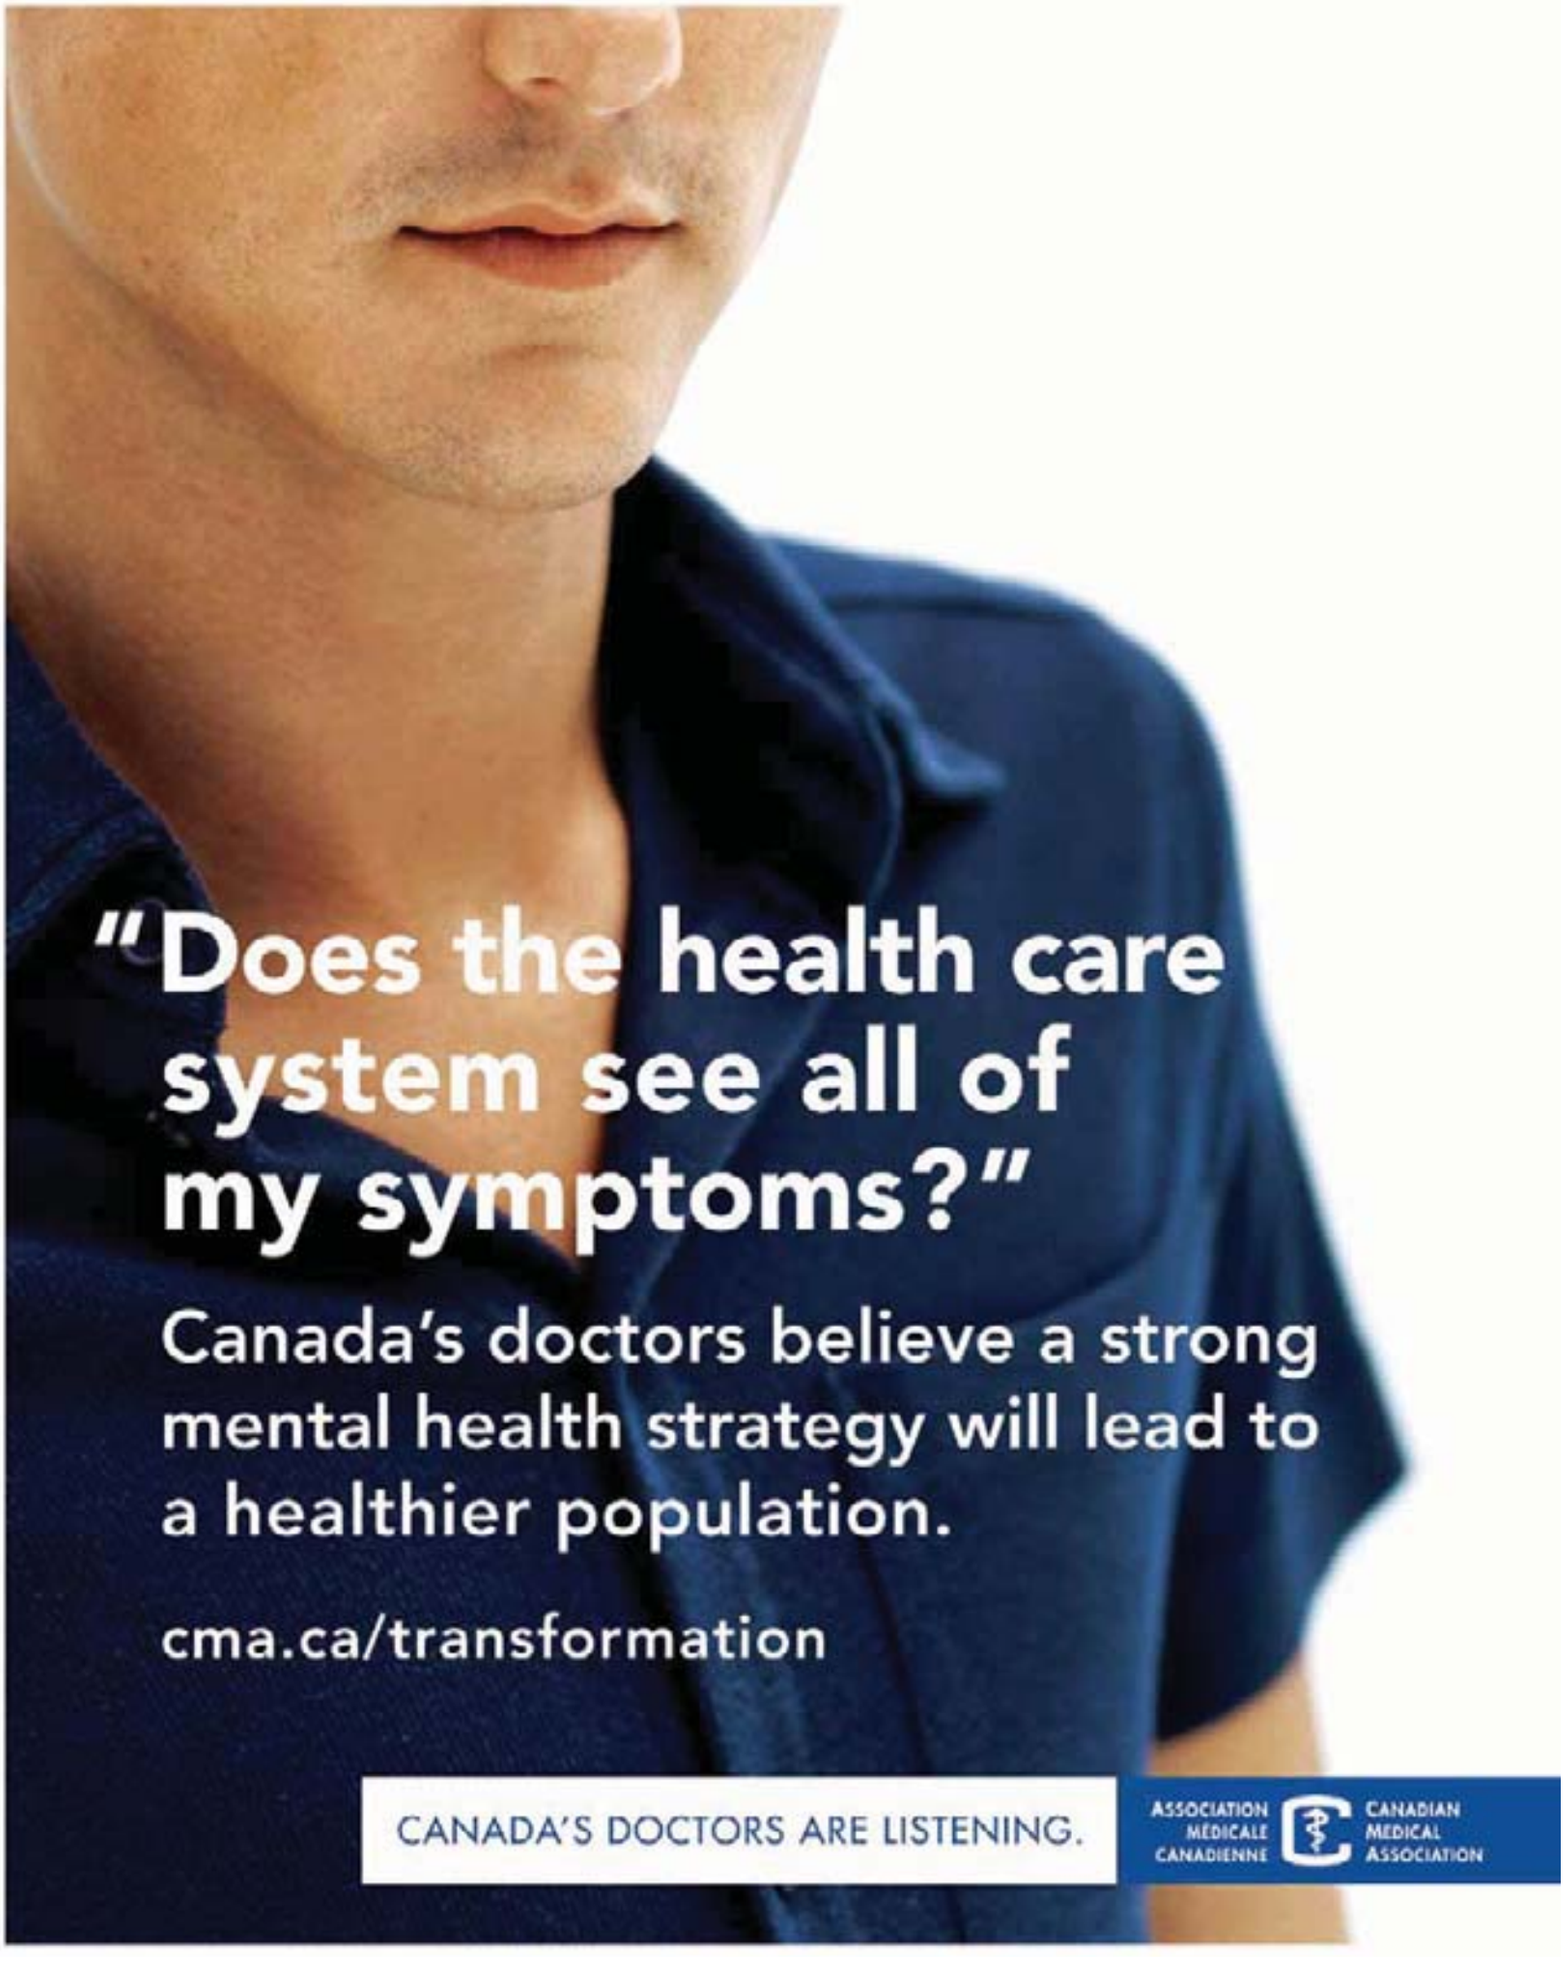
In the future, mental health will be viewed as a basic human right across Canada.

"Just as with physical disabilities and HIV/AIDS, mental health will be linked to human rights, empowerment, dignity and respect," says Peter Coleridge, National Chief Executive Officer, Canadian Mental Health Association (CMHA) Toronto.

Making this happen will need more than merely messages and campaigns "that in isolation, don't have a sustained impact," says Coleridge. It will also require changes in pubic policies, behaviours and attitudes to mental health in the work place, in schools, and elsewhere.

The CMHA vision for the future also includes the 120-plus CMHA regional offices not only continuing to respond to local mental health needs, but also working together in a synergistic way to improve understanding surrounding mental health issues.

Canada will soon have its own a national mental health strategy, says Coleridge.



"Does the health care system see all of my symptoms?"
Canada's doctors believe a strong mental health strategy will lead to a healthier population.

MINIMIZE HOLIDAY STRESS

It's Thanksgiving, a time to sit down for a traditional turkey dinner with family and friends. Sounds ideal. Trouble is, you're dreading it.

Here are some tips from Sandy Milakovic, Chief Executive Officer, Canadian Mental Health Association, Peel Branch, to minimize that mid-October stress.

LOWER YOUR EXPECTATIONS Remember that things don't have to be perfect.

SET PRIORITIES Pick your favourite thing to do — baking a pumpkin pie, for example — and get other people to organize the rest of the turkey dinner.

ASK FOR HELP (and accept the help that's given). Even very young members of the family can set the table — but don't complain if the forks aren't in the proper place.

BUILD SOME BREAKS INTO YOUR HOLIDAY To avoid being overwhelmed, spend time alone doing something you enjoy.

DON'T OVERINDULGE Alcohol is a depressant and loosens tongues, so you may say or do something you'll regret. And eating too much food can make you feel lethargic.

TAKE DEEP BREATHS This slows you down and allows you time to respond to a difficult situation.

STAY WITHIN YOUR BUDGET Finances are a huge stressor. Consider celebrating the holiday with something other than a sit-down dinner. Spending time with your family could mean going on a hike together.

HELP OTHERS Volunteering at a food bank or donating clothing to families in need are guaranteed to boost your spirits and help you cope with any stressor that comes your way.

THINK OF THOSE WHO ARE ALONE Visit them or invite them over for something like a potluck dinner.

CALL FOR HELP IF YOU NEED IT If the holiday is making you feel depressed or down, call the crisis number in your community. Remember that feeling depressed is normal.

DELIVERING HOPE FOR MENTAL HEALTH

Canada Post recently unveiled a stamp that has a unique claim to fame. The company issues an annual fundraising stamp supporting mental health, its cause of choice. This year's stamp design was the first in the company's 160-year history to be chosen by public vote.

Last November, a competition was held to find a design for this year's stamp, which raises funds for the Canada Post Foundation for Mental Health. THE PUZZLE — designed by Terrebonne, Que., resident Miriane Majeau — received the most points and now adorns more than 3.5 million stamps available at post offices across Canada. A dollar from the sale of every booklet of 10 stamps is donated to the Canada Post Foundation for Mental Health.

"Dealing with mental health issues is like putting a puzzle together," says Majeau. "As you connect the pieces, something beautiful and whole is revealed."

Since 2008, Canada Post employees have helped raise nearly $5 million for the Foundation, and $4.6 million in grants has been disbursed to nearly 100 non-profit organizations across Canada.

Reimer outduels Price

Leafs goalie gets shutout against Montreal in season opener ◐ Phaneuf, Lombardi score

That was a fine beginning to the Maple Leafs' season.

The Leafs opened with a tidy 2-0 victory over the Montreal Canadiens — a division rival they're sure to be battling in March for a playoff spot — by playing the kind of hockey coach Ron Wilson has been preaching.

They got goals from their stars — Dion Phaneuf, with a howitzer of a slapshot — and the fourth line — Matthew Lombardi, short-handed no less. Phaneuf picked up an assist on Lombardi's goal for a two-point night.

LEAFS	CANADIENS
2	0

And James Reimer, putting to rest any doubts that were raised with a 3.00-plus goals-against average in the pre-season — was outstanding in net. He outdueled Carey Price, the established goaltending star of the Canadiens. That's something Reimer will be called upon to do time and again this season in a Northeast Division that is packed with star goalies such as Tim Thomas and Ryan Miller.

Kudos should also go to some otherwise unsung heroes, who did so many of the little things: David Steckel, who seemed to win just about every faceoff; Tyler Bozak, who kept lifting the sticks of Canadiens players to clear pucks; Mike Komisarek, who hit everything; and Carl Gunnarsson, who just seemed so steady on the blue-line.

With the win, Wilson ties Bryan Murray for sixth on the all-time NHL list with 620 career victories.

Phil Kessel set up Phaneuf's third-period goal. That's 11 games in a row with at least a point for Kessel going back to last season. Mats Sundin was the last Leaf to get a point in 11 straight in the 2005-06 season (March 15-April 15).

The Tigers escaped jams all game and advanced to the AL championship series against Texas.

Jose Valverde shut down the Yankees in the ninth as the Tigers eliminated New York in the division series for the second time in six seasons.

Dolphins lose Henne for rest of the season

Injured QB decides to have shoulder surgery

SAM GREENWOOD/GETTY IMAGES

▶ Chad Henne

Another loss for the winless Miami Dolphins: Quarterback Chad Henne is out for the season.

Henne decided to have shoulder surgery and was placed on the injured reserve list Thursday.

The Dolphins replaced him on the roster by signing veteran quarterback Sage Rosenfels, who was released Tuesday by the New York Giants after recovering from a blood disorder that sent him to the hospital in August.

Henne separated his left shoulder when tackled on a busted play in the first quarter of Sunday's loss at San Diego. The game might have been Henne's last with Miami, because his contract expires after the season.

"It's really disappointing," coach Tony Sparano said. "The kid's got a lot invested in this thing with the team."

Matt Moore took over against the Chargers and will make his first start for the Dolphins in their next game Oct. 17 against the New York Jets.

Henne lost his past seven starts for the Dolphins, who are 0-4 with a bye this week. Immediately after the game, he expressed optimism he would quickly be back in the lineup, but the injury turned out to be more serious than he anticipated.

"It's tough," teammate Jake Long said. "Chad's one of those guys, he's like me, he'll do anything he can to get out on the field. But he can't."

Moore took 150 snaps during three days of practice this week. The only other healthy QB with the team was rookie Pat Devlin, a member of the practice squad.

"It's Matt's job. We've got to get Matt ready to go," Sparano said. "He's a confident guy — a little different swagger to him when he gets in the huddle." THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A do-or-die duel between friends

Former Blue Jays — and best buddies — Halladay and Carpenter go head-to-head in NLDS Game 5

Roy Halladay and Chris Carpenter grew up together with the Toronto Blue Jays, and the best friends have spent plenty of time competing on golf courses and fishing boats.

The stakes will be much higher when the all-stars match up on a mound for the first time Friday night.

It'll be Halladay vs. Carpenter in Game 5 with a berth in the NL championship series on the line for the Philadelphia Phillies and St. Louis Cardinals.

"You definitely look forward to it," Halladay said Thursday. "Not only is Chris a good pitcher, but obviously a good friend. We've talked about this scenario. I think it's something we're both looking forward to. It's going to be a challenge.

"Going in, you know what you're up against, you know how good they are, you know how good Chris is. We haven't got a chance to pitch against each other, and if you're going to do it for the first time, might as well be now," he said.

The best buddies already have made off-season plans. One of them will get a head start on his vacation.

"It's been a pretty good friendship for a long time," Carpenter said. "We've pitched together, we've vacationed together, we communicate a bunch during the off-season and during the season. He just invited me to go fishing this winter, so I mean, we've got a real good relationship. It's going to be a lot of fun."

SCOTT HALLERAN/ALLSPORT VINCENT LAFORET/GETTY FILE PHOTO

"I really did feel like we kind of learned together, more mentally how to approach the game and how to play the game, and it was a lot of fun."
ROY HALLADAY ON HIS FORMATIVE YEARS AS A BLUE JAY WITH CHRIS CARPENTER

The pressure will be on Halladay, though he downplays it. Nothing less than a World Series title will satisfy anyone in Philadelphia. The Phillies brought a franchise-record 102 wins into the post-season.

"I don't think you can get too caught up in what game it is, and what it means," Halladay said. "I think if you go out thinking: 'Wow, this is everything, all-in-one,' I think it can make too much out of it."

There are so many similarities between Halladay and Carpenter — right down to even their height and weight. Both are listed at six-foot-six and 230 pounds.

The 36-year-old Carpenter, the 15th pick in the 1992 amateur draft, is a three-time all-star and the 2005 NL Cy Young Award winner. He's 144-92 in 14 seasons with the Jays and Cardinals.

The 34-year-old Halladay, the 17th pick in the 1995 amateur draft, is an eight-time all-star who has Cy Young Awards from each league. He's 188-92 in 14 seasons with the Jays and Phillies. THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Linked arms

Chris Carpenter had limited success as a Jay, never winning more than 12 games in six years in Toronto.

- Roy Halladay was widely considered the best pitcher in the game when he joined the Phillies last year.
- He lived up to expectations in his first season in Philadelphia, pitching a perfect game, a no-hitter in his first post-season start and winning a Cy Young Award.
- But Carpenter has something Halladay desperately wants: a World Series ring. Carpenter's Cardinals beat Detroit in the 2006 World Series.

Reynolds' time with Stampeders appears to be up

CFL EXTRA POINTS

DAN TOTH
TORONTO@METRONEWS.CA

No matter how long one hangs around pro sports, it's never easy to see a great athlete pushed to the sidelines.

A stunning example is Calgary Stampeders running back Joffrey Reynolds, the team's all-time leading rusher who recently lost his starting job to Canadian Jon Cornish. Reynolds has had a great run (literally and figuratively) over the past eight seasons. The Texan, who has cracked the top-10 for all-time CFL rushing yards, has never missed a game due to injury. He has been benched the last two games to provide Cornish the starting role and now the veteran back may be finished at the ripe old age of 32. That's not old by most standards but in football, especially for running backs, it's borderline ancient. The Stamps deny shopping around Reynolds and it makes sense they'd keep him on hand as the playoffs approach.

But Cornish had the best game of his career last week against Saskatchewan with 149 yards and two touchdowns, possibly signaling the end of an era.

Dire without Durant:

The Saskatchewan Roughriders' slim hopes of slipping into a playoff spot will be dashed if QB Darian Durant's foot injury prevents him from playing against the Edmonton Eskimos Thanksgiving Monday.

Durant was injured last weekend against Calgary as the Riders dropped to a division-worst 4-9. There's still a glimmer of hope they could sneak up on the 7-6 Eskimos, who the Riders play twice in October.

But if little-used Ryan Dinwiddie, Durant's backup, is their hope for a resurgence don't count on it.

Bombers looking like duds heading into Hamilton:

Can the Winnipeg Blue Bombers, so brash and outspoken during a 7-1 start, rediscover their form after losing four-of-five?

They'll get a chance Friday against their division rival Tiger-Cats with banged up QB Buck Pierce back after sitting out last week's loss to Montreal with sore ribs.

The Ticats, who trail Winnipeg by two points, also have injury problems. DB Milt Collins will likely miss Friday's game.

Hamilton is also without centre Marwan Hage, who has been hobbled by a sprained knee, and wide receiver Matt Carter, out with a concussion. It's not how either team wanted to go into such a critical game while the Bombers, still in second place, need to regain that early season swagger heading toward the playoffs.

NOT SEEING THE RESULTS YOU WANT FROM YOUR ANTIDEPRESSANT?
Please consider our depression research study.

Our office is conducting a research study to evaluate whether adding an investigational medication to an approved antidepressant therapy might give relief from the symptoms of major depressive disorder (MDD) when added to a current medication.

You may be able to take part in this study if you:
- Are 18 - 65 years old,
- Have been diagnosed with Major Depressive Disorder (MDD),
- Have been experiencing symptoms of depression for at least the past 2 months,
- Have been taking at least one antidepressant medication as prescribed but it is not helping you enough.

Additional study criteria will be assessed by the study doctor.

The study lasts 15 to 22 weeks. Participants will receive either the investigational medication or a placebo (an inactive substance).

All study-related medications, office visits and examinations will be provided to you at no cost. 647-338-0369

Today's horoscope

♈ Aries March 21-April 20 Today's Venus-Neptune link makes this a great day for friendships and affairs of the heart.

♉ Taurus April 21-May 21 You seem to be enchanted more by things than by people at the moment. Get your priorities right.

♊ Gemini May 22-June 21 Everything looks new and everything seems possible. In short, it's a great time to be a Gemini.

♋ Cancer June 22-July 22 Let others know what you're willing to put up with and what you consider is going too far — and mean it.

♌ Leo July 23-Aug.23 This is the kind of day when you must get out among people and let your exuberant Leo nature light up the world.

♍ Virgo Aug. 24- Sept. 22 If you have fallen out with someone recently, this is the perfect day to make amends.

♎ Libra Sept. 23-Oct. 23 You have so much good karma waiting to be used, and the planets signal this is the time to cash in.

♏ Scorpio Oct. 24-Nov. 22 Don't allow yourself to be intimidated by someone who thinks that ranting gets things done.

♐ Sagittarius Nov. 23-Dec. 21 You will gain more today by doing less — not just a little bit less but a lot less. Sit back and chill.

♑ Capricorn Dec. 22-Jan. 20 Your rivals will be awed by your ability to always finish ahead of them. You're a natural.

♒ Aquarius Jan. 21-Feb. 18 If you're tempted to judge someone of whose lifestyle you don't approve, remember: live and let live.

♓ Pisces Feb. 19-March 20. If someone whose judgment you trust offers you advice, you'd be wise to listen. SALLY BROMPTON
